HISTORY

1956 – USA Security Agency Field Station at Menwith Hill

1957 – 13th Army Security Agency Field Station

1966 – Army presence discontinued

Circa 1985 – Detachment, HHC 704th

1992 – A Co, 743rd MI Bn

1995 – Army takes control of MHS Base Operations

1995 – 713th MI Group (1 company)

2000 – 109th MI Group (2 companies)

2002 – 109th MI Group inactivated in conjunction with Air Force transition;
CG INSCOM directs the stand-up of the MHS MI Bn (P)

2002 – MHS MI Bn formed from 109th MI Group MTOE/TDA documents

2002 – MHS MI Bn subordinated to 108th MI Group

2004 – MHS MI Bn subordinated to 66th MI Group upon inactivation of 108th MI Group at BAS

Mission

The Menwith Hill Military Intelligence Battalion, as a full partner in a joint, combined, and interagency activity, conducts cryptologic operations, providing resident Army Service Cryptologic Element (SCE) capability in support of Menwith Hill Station, JSSW Digby, and JAC Molesworth's National and Theater support missions

Battalion Vision

“provide well-trained, tactically and technically proficient, ‘Premier Professional’ Soldiers capable of serving within the extended enterprise or Army operations worldwide”

Battalion Organization